Prajavani's history and property was founded in 1948 in Bangalore by K.N. Guruswamy, Printers (Mysore) Private Limited, which owns the newspaper, is still privately owned by members of the founding family. Stans Prajavani (PV) has a history of being a politically independent newspaper, though it tends to stick out with a liberal tilt. He is known for supporting Dalit causes, promoting women's empowerment and holding positions in support of the poor on economic issues. It managed to maintain an independent position despite the increasingly polarized media landscape in Karnataka. Prajavani uses the slogan Kannada's most trusted daily newspaper that appears under his mast. Prajavani's market position was Kannada's leading newspaper for decades until it overtook Vijay Karnataka (VK) in 2004. The gulf between PV and upstart VK has become huge for a while, but the two newspapers appear to be competing much more closely, as in 2014, the s. significantly restored ground according to industry numbers. Some analysts also attribute this to the launch of Vijaya Vani, the original owner of Vijaya Karnataka, Vijay Sankeshwar and his VRL Group, which apparently ate the readers of Vijay Karnataka. Other regional competitors are Udayawaani, Varthaharati, Kannada Prabha and Samyukta Karnataka.
